

It has been almost two years, so it is time for another fun evening with Tom & Peter Stolpman of Stolpman Vineyards and a fabulous tasting of red wines from their estate in the Ballard Canyon AVA of Santa Barbara County. This year we will taste some of their red classics, including a La Cuadrilla red blend dedicated to Ruben Solorzano & crew, Estate Syrah, Estate Sangiovese, and Angeli Syrah. Tom & Peter are offering an awesome 30% discount and free shipping on purchases for the tasting.

Over 30 years ago, Tom Stolpman discovered one of the greatest viticultural sites on earth and founded Stolpman Vineyards. Ballard Canyon incorporates cool-climate marine influences from the Santa Rita Hills in the west, moderated by the warmer climate of Happy Canyon to the east. By virtue of the distinct wind, weather, soil, drainage, and geology of Ballard Canyon, the wines express the broad spectrum of aromas and flavors that only come from growing in the mixed climate of this unique AVA. Ballard Canyon is positioned to become synonymous with great red wines throughout the world

At Stolpman, it's all about the vineyard, so they employ a highly skilled full-time work-force, La Cuadrilla. They take care of the crew, and the crew takes the most precise care of their vines. In an era when the wine industry is moving towards mechanization, Stolpman Vineyards has gone the opposite direction. Vines are only touched by the hands of La Cuadrilla, no tractors. They spare no effort in meticulous pruning cuts, vine training, and adjustments.
